

THE LAST TRIBUTE

Remains of Hon. Augustus Hill Garland Reached Little Rock, Ark., Monday Morning.

IN STATE IN THE SENATE CHAMBER

Thousands of People Took a Last Glimpse of the Familiar Face of the Dead Statesman.

Funeral Services Conducted in the Hall of the House of Representatives. Remains Interred in Mount Holly Cemetery.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 31.—The remains of Hon. Augustus Hill Garland, whose tragic death occurred in the senate chamber at Washington last Thursday, reached Little Rock at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning, escorted by a legislative committee, who met the funeral train at the state's border. The remains were met at the Union station by the committee, representing the legislature, the supreme court, the bar and other organizations and large numbers of prominent citizens and escorted to the senate chamber where they are to lie in state until 3 o'clock, when an elaborate ceremony will be held. Thousands of people thronged the capitol Monday morning to get a last glimpse of the familiar face of the dead statesman. The state house was crowded by a 6 o'clock, when the senate chamber was thrown open to the public, and all morning a continuous stream of people have passed slowly by the bier, silently and sorrowfully going for the last time upon the features of the distinguished dead.

Among those who paid their last humble tribute to Mr. Garland were several white headed negroes, who carried from Homing Hill, the Garland country house. These faithful negroes have been in the Garland household since slavery days and their devotion to their old master was pathetic in the extreme.

The funeral ceremonies were conducted in this hall of the house of representatives at 3 o'clock, the senate chamber having been found inadequate to accommodate the great throng of people. The services were conducted by Rev. W. E. Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, assisted by Episcopals, Presbyterians and the Rev. J. H. B. of the senate, and Chaplain Collett, of the house of representatives.

Fitting eulogies were delivered by distinguished friends of the illustrious dead. The funeral cortege was borne to Mount Holly cemetery by an immense procession, where the floral offerings were numerous and beautiful, many fine places having been sent by Washington friends.

SECOND PROTEST.

Agonello, Filipino Representative, Sends in Another Communication.

WILL BE DIPLOMATICALLY IGNORED.

Accompanying the Document is a Long Memorial Addressed to the United States Senate.

It is a Protest That the Country Has No Jurisdiction, Natural or Acquired, to Adjudicate Upon the Philippine Country or Its People.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Sixty Lopez, secretary to Agonello, the Philippine representative here, called at the state department about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon and left with the chief clerk another communication addressed to the secretary of state, protesting against the action of the senate towards the Filipino "republic." The terms of the protest do not go as far as an ultimatum. The same facts are repeated in communication as that which he left in predecessor—it will be diplomatically ignored.

Accompanying the communication is a long memorial addressed to the senate, containing a comprehensive argument in opposition to the ratification of the treaty and which the envoy asks the president to send to that body. The letter of transmittal contains more than the mere request, but Agonello feels that he is bound by courtesy not to make it public until an official reply is had by the state department officials to make a reply.

The memorial to the senate is a long document, both historical and argumentative in character and is a protest that this government has no jurisdiction, natural or acquired, through any of its agencies to adjudicate in any manner upon the rights of the Philippine country and its people. He refers to the "historical fact that a large number of my countrymen have never been subdued by Spanish power and against their liberties, the oppressive arm of Spain has never been able to maintain itself; that the remainder, because of their adhesion to the cause of liberty have been in constant insurrection against the government of Spain; these conflicts existing continuously with greater or less fury for the past hundred years."

The impression, Agonello says, has been created in America that at the time of the declaration of war between America and Spain, the Philippine revolution no longer existed. He quotes from communications from General Williams at Manila and Mr. Pratt, as a result of which Agonello says that "without additional authority it must be evident to your honorable body that an extensive revolution existed in the Philippine islands at the time of the declaration of war by America against Spain."

The purpose of the Filipino patriots in conducting this revolution was, it is asserted, to secure the complete independence of their country, and in this effort they received the encouragement of the United States, and were never informed that the obtaining and preservation of such independence would be regarded as a hostile act by America, and they never believed that their struggle in such a cause would lead to enormous expenditures of American armies and navies at their doors.

Additional historical facts are here presented and quotations made from manifestos of the Philippine revolution and other documents from which, says the envoy, it must appear "that the Philippine nation had achieved its independence free from any danger of losing it at the hands of Spain prior to the signing of the protocol."

FIRE PLUGS FROZEN.

Fourteen Families Rendered Homeless by a Fire Which Destroyed a Chicago Tenement House.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Fourteen families were rendered homeless Monday night by a fire which destroyed a three-story tenement house at 124-126 Fifty-second street. Every fire plug in the vicinity of the building was frozen up, and by the time the engines could obtain water the building was gone. The firemen carried several women and children out just in time to prevent them from being overcome with smoke. Mrs. Grimes refused to leave her rooms and kept her three children with her. The firemen were compelled to drag her out by force.

The building, which was worth $15,000, was totally destroyed.

INSIDE HISTORY.

Correspondence Bearing on the Peace Treaty Laid Before the Senate by McKinley.

THE PRESIDENT SENT A BRIEF MESSAGE

The American Commissioners Are of One Mind Regarding the Wisdom of Taking All the Philippines.

Senator Gray Alone Objected—The President Sent a Brief Message to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The president Monday sent to the senate the correspondence bearing on the peace treaty, and it was laid in Monday's executive session. The correspondence was sent in response to the resolution introduced by Senator Hoar.

In submitting the papers the president sent a brief message saying that he transmitted them in accordance with the resolution. The reading consumed the entire executive session, lasting from 9 to 10:30, except a few minutes at the close. Much of the matter covered the same ground as that already published but it was presented in the form in which the proceedings were continued from day to day in the cable correspondence between Secretary Day, as the president's representative on the one hand, and Commissioner Day, as the representative of the American commission, on the other. The principal interest among the senators attached to the president's instructions to insist upon the cession of the island of Luzon and other islands in the decision to take the entire group of islands. The latter development appeared from the correspondence to be a growth, and the suggestion was made by the commissioners that the president was the arrival there of the commissioners. In his dispatch concerning Luzon he said there was but one alternative: The United States must either take the island and assume sovereignty or return it to Spain, and of the two courses he preferred the former.

Spain was from the first unwilling to cede any of the Philippines, and she made a special objection to letting go of Luzon alone. The commissioners, with the exception of Senator Gray, urged that to take Luzon and leave the other islands in the hands of the Spaniards would be to invite innumerable complications with other nations, and especially with Europe and with Spain. The Spanish agent was laid upon the probability of the future trouble with Spain. W. H. Lazon under American administration there would soon be such a vast improvement, they wrote, that the other islands would soon grow more and more rebellious, and with Spain's oppressive methods of government we would soon again find that we had another Cuba at another door. Furthermore, the revolution is constant filibustering and we should find ourselves spending millions to preserve a state of neutrality just as we did in the case of Cuba prior to our declaration of war on account of this island. Gen. Merritt's testimony on this point was cited and was made the reason for taking the entire group.

The president does not appear to have at any time given explicit instructions to consummate the bargain by taking all the Philippines, but rather, after hearing a full explanation, to have left the matter to the discretion of the commissioners.

The entire controversy was practically over the Philippines and the question of assuming responsibility for the payment of the Spanish bonds for which the Cuban revenues were pledged. The Spaniards from the first insisted upon an indemnity for the Philippines and the correspondence shows that after the proposition to pay $20,000,000 was made the negotiations proceeded much more smoothly and were soon brought to a close.

The American commissioners appear to have been of one mind as to the wisdom of taking over all the Philippines with the exception of Senator Gray, who, notwithstanding he signed the treaty, held out to the last against the policy of accepting these islands. At one notable dispatch he pleaded against accepting the policy as unpatriotic, unamerican and inconsistent with probability and good statemanship.

After the debate the senate refused to print the correspondence. President Wilson's living son Col. Woodrow Wilson, of the Thirteenth, and his son, Theodore H. Stanton, paymaster general of the army, was retired at noon Monday in conformity with the age requirements of the service. The occasion was an advance of the day by the officers of the paymaster's department in Washington to present their retiring chief a living silver cup as a mark of their personal regard and appreciation of his public services.

The Chamber Adopts the Government's Revision on Bill—Premier Dupuy Says All Documents Will Be Published.

PARIS, Jan. 31.—The chamber of deputies Monday, by a vote of 346 to 189, adopted the government's proposal to submit to a special committee of the chamber the bill providing that cases of trial revisions shall be brought before the united sections of the court of cassation. The report of M. Masu, first president of the court of cassation, on the charges of M. Quesnay de Beaurepaire, the former president of the civil section of that body, will be read before the committee.

The minister of justice, M. Lebel, introduced the bill and asked that it be sent to the committee. It was read amid profound silence. The preamble of the measure, declaring that the bill was one of necessity for the peace and to restore calm in the country, was greeted with applause from the center and murmurs from the extreme left.

M. Georges Berry, representing the first division of the Senate, said the chamber was not aware why the government introduced the bill and asked for the official publication of the evidence in the case of M. Hard, who reported on the breach of case to the court of cassation. (Cheers.)

The premier, M. Dupuy, said he did not wish the chamber to vote in the dark. He was desirous that full light be thrown on the subject and, therefore, the government would submit to the committee the complete documents in the case.
